Play cassette tapes on this vintage-look radio!

Exquisitely handcrafted after the most recognized radio of the early 1930s, this traditional cathedral radio has been updated ever so slightly to make it a fully functional and versatile radio for your small or home office. It delivers the warmth of the '30s, and the sounds of today.

Novelty phones ship direct from the manufacturer, so overnight shipping is not available. Plan on 5 to 7 days for your products to arrive.

Distinctive cathedral design was the most popular design of all antique radios.

Add some '30s nostalgia to your small/home office.

Turn the ON knob of this vintage '30s reproduction radio and you'll almost expect to hear the strains of "Happy Days Are Here Again" or an episode of "One Man's Family" to come pouring out! What you'll get instead are the sounds of all your local AM and FM radio stations, coming through clearly on the radio's contemporary full-range audio speaker. Also hidden in this 1932 classic is a slot for playing cassette tapes.

But outwardly, it's all 1932, from the radio's handcrafted, rich wood cabinet down to its (very '30s) cutout grill. This was one popular radio model. Just check out some of those movie classics from Hollywood's Golden Age, and you're certain to see more than a few cathedral radios in the background.

- Authentic 1932 styling defines this charming radio. Faithfully designed to replicate the most recognized radio model of the early 1930s, this cathedral radio is constructed of wood-and-veneer and features a typical 1930s illuminated radio dial and an authentic woven cloth behind its trademark grill.
